Art Unit:

Applicants are requested to provide the serial number and to update the status of the related applications on page 1 of the specification.

Certain claims are identical. See claims 12-13, 33-34, 14, 15 for example. Applicants are requested to cancel the duplicate claims.

Claims 1-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Scope of limitation of the claims is not clear. The preamble calls for method steps for implementing an execution stack. However, the claim combination merely recites steps for storing two frames. No implementation of stack is seen. Further, the claims recite step for storing a pointer to a previous frame on the execution stack for a previous function when a first function calls a second function. There is no relationship between storing a previous frame for a previous function and calling of the second function by the first function. Furthermore, it is not clear how the previous frame and the previous function are related to the first and the second functions. No meaningful improvement is seen from the claims.

The steps recited in the dependent claims are not functionally related to the steps in the parent claims. See claim 3 for example it appears that allocating resources is unrelated to the steps in parent claim 1 or implementing a stack. See claim 5 for more example. The step recited in claim 5 is not functionally related to claim 1.

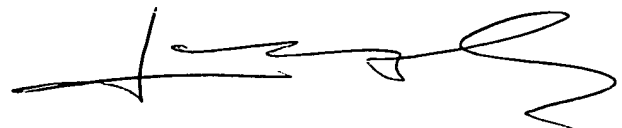

Art Unit:

Claims 7 -10 are not understood. It is not clear what actually is stored. It is not clear what is meant by "throwing the stored exception". No meaningful function is seen from the claims.

In claim 12, a computer readable medium is not part of a program. The medium should be recited in the preamble.

Claims 15-41 have similar defects set forth above.

For the reasons set forth above. No meaningful search can be made. The cited references are relevant to the extent that they are all directed to an interrupt stack for storing status information when the current program calls an interrupt subroutine such that execution can be return to the same point before interrupt. The Yellin reference (5,740,441) which is directed to a bytecode program interpreter is of particular relevant (see lines 35 et seq. of column 8, lines 55 et seq. of column 12,).
